Teaching Experience

I have been tutoring for the past four years. In that time, I have helped many students prepare successful applications for both Psychology and other courses at Oxford and Cambridge University and other prestigious British institutions. I have also taught both A Level and University level Psychology as well as other subjects.

Psychology Interview Tuition Approach

In my interview preparation I emphasize that the Oxford and Cambridge interviews are not an exam - they are a conversation about the subject the student wants to study with world experts in that field. As such, I try to teach my students to discuss Psychological issues with intellectual fluency in conversation, and to present themselves and convey their enthusiasm in a natural way instead of treating the interview as a formal “test”.
